

The Traveling Early Modern Philosophy Organization presents:

TEMPO 2027

Modern Conference
in New Brunswick, NJ, on April 30th-May 1st, 2027

Paper abstracts are now being accepted on any aspect of Modern philosophy and its teaching, understood roughly as the period from Montaigne through Mill in Europe and elsewhere.

Submissions on the topic of our reading group—the Venetian women philosophers Marianella Tarabotti, and Fonte—and related figures, methods, and themes are particularly encouraged.

Keynote: Elliot Samuel Paul (Queen's University), "Cartesian Freedom: How Clarity Liberates"

Plenary: Elena Gordon (University College Dublin), "Male Tyranny, Misogyny, and Online Spaces: Lessons from the History of Feminism"

Author Meets Critics: "The Eternal Ocean of Mind: Mary Shepherd's Metaphysics" by Manuel Fasko (University of Basel), moderated by David Landy (San Francisco State University), featuring Don Garrett (New York University), Antonia LoLordo (University of Virginia), and Maité Cruz (Union College)

Panel: "Teaching Non-Canonical Figures in Non-Canonical Ways" presented by Allairen Forbes (McMaster University), and featuring Dwight K. Lewis (University of Minnesota, Twin Cities) and Julie Walsh (Wellesley College)

To submit an anonymized abstract of 300-500 words, please visit our website at <http://tempo-conference.net>

You can also register for our reading group on the Venetian women philosophers and learn about our Outstanding Paper Prize for graduate students.

Please direct questions to Virginia Sharpe (v.sharpe@rutgers.edu)

Deadline for submissions: Feb. 1st, 2027 (Notification of acceptance by Feb. 19th)